"Brother Caruthers, the building is on fire." This statement was made by Dr. F. C. Thornburg at the M. E. church in Macon, Sunday morning, while Rev. S. Caruthers was praying. The congregation quietly left the building to find the roof blazing fiercely. In 10 minutes the $8,000 church was a mass of ruins. Rev. Caruthers was the pastor of the Oregon M. E. church during the years 1881-4.

Christmas Box.

The "Country Club," composed of representative farmers' wives and daughters in this section of Holt county, take much enjoyment from the meetings and the various social activities of the club, but this organization is not one of pleasure alone, and the members, individually or collectively, are ever ready to assist others less fortunate than themselves. Not only with cheerful words and sound advice, but, when the occasion justifies, with more substantial aid.

We could enumerate many and varied instances of this club's thoughtfulness in the past, but we are not going to at this time. Rather let the following illustrate what manner of women compose the "Country Club."

These women packed a box—a real Christmas box—for the children in the Missouri State Home at St. Louis, who have no one to see that their Christmas is a merry one. The box was not filled with cast-off clothing and broken, discarded toys that the members might have found around their own homes. No indeed. The garments were new, made neatly and of good material, and the toys were purchased with a thought of the pleasure they were to give.

The box contained: 38 boys' waists, 19 dresses, 33 aprons, 10 shirts, 6 girls' coats, 3 hoods, 1 muff, 2 boys' suits, 1 Russian suit, 3 night dresses, 3 pairs of shoes, 4 neck ties, 35 toys and 18 dressed dolls. The club offered a prize to the member who should best dress a doll and this was awarded to Mrs. E. E. Richards.

Not wishing to take all of the credit unto themselves for this Christmas box, the ladies of the "Country Club" wish to thank Mesdames Jas. Buntz, Nathan Smith, T. Vincent, Wm. Derr, Ara McIntyre, Wm. Sparks, Ed Keaster, Ora King, L. Landreth and Lydia Ramsey, who are not members, for material assistance.

This is a noble example. Think how little of your time or money it would take to make some one happy on Christmas Day. And you will feel better and happier yourself the whole day. Try it.

AMUSEMENTS.

"MACKS" at the Opera House.

Laugh and grow fat! The Macks prove the truth of the old saying and, no doubt, people who note with regret that they are losing weight, will get the desired result by attending the Macks Show. They will be royally entertained by the great mesmerists, who, after 7 years of activity, hold the leadership in mental telepathy and scientific features in hypnotism. They have a large attendance every night and the audiences are delighted with the excellent program that the Macks arrange for their benefit. [The performance Tuesday evening was the most interesting exhibition ever given in Oregon. The hypnotic sleigh ride, and singing and loving in the room—were the hits of the evening. They laughed and they kept on laughing and they are still chuckling.]

Mrs. Mack in her wonderful telepathy tests is bewildering and very interesting. Prof. Mack puts her in a somnambulist sleep and persons in the audience suggest instructions of varied things for her to do. With closed eyes and no apparent means of knowing what she is to do, save by mental suggestion, she walks confidently among the audience and follows directions to the letter through thought transference.

On Saturday, at 1:30 p. m., Prof. Mack will hypnotize a young man in the window and cause him to peddle a bicycle for 7 consecutive hours. The rear wheel will be raised from the floor and the peddler will think he is riding cross-country, pedals hard up hill, coasts down. He will be taken to the Opera House at 7:30 Saturday night, where he will ride on until 8:30, when he will be awakened by the great Mack.

The Macks are here all week and are surely delivering the goods in realistic form. If any pressure could be brought to bear to have everybody in Oregon see them before they leave, we would gladly bring that pressure into play, as it is a rare treat from an amusement standpoint.
